I am running in on localhost, and I see the page load in the browsers window, but I can not open the page, and when I check the status from Firefox i get Firez. When I visit the URL in the page, i get The requested URL /pkglib/forum/didnt-find.php was not found on this server. But when I go to chrome://net-internals/#proxy, i see the request and responses being sent through the VPN, but i see the following error, and i can not load the site when i attempt to load it. ERROR - Could not open connection: Can't resolve proxy name. I have tried different ways to get around this error, and I have changed my settings in the developer settings and still i get the error. I am using the same browser that I normally do, and my username and password is the same that I use when I go to this page. If anyone has any idea what i should do to get past this error I would really appreciate it, I need to get this fixed so I can open this for my current class. EDIT: more information added: A: In fact, you don't need to use a VPN connection. Use network tab in developer tools for Firefox, and use a proxy address to bypass the website restrictions. If you have a VPN, then use it to bypass the restrictions. TALLAHASSEE, Fla. – Jameis Winston isn't the only Florida State quarterback struggling to play well in a big game. Redshirt freshman Deondre Francois has been very good in the Seminoles' first two games of the season, but has yet to play well in a big one. That won't be easy against Clemson. Francois has only one passing touchdown this season, in a Sept. 8 victory against Charleston Southern, and had just seven completions for 79 yards against Wake Forest in a 41-0 loss. Coach Jimbo Fisher is confident Francois can play well in big games, but he's also aware the sophomore's future is still up in the air. "He's going to have to do a better job of controlling the line of scrimmage," Fisher said Tuesday. "We're going to play certain things where we give the quarterback a little more responsibility in certain things. And we're going to do that regardless of whether it's him or anybody else. We're going to do that for the better 82157476af
